SOMETHING ADDED

In the process of indexing, we see a variety of calendars. It occurred to us that coordinating these would be a help to some of our readers. If you will look under CHURCH calendar in this issue you will notice this.

BACK COPIES

While back copies of THE KEY are available at 50¢ each as long as they last, it is important that subscribers keep complete files of the magazines indexed because it is impossible for The Methodist Church to maintain a large supply of back copies of their many periodicals. Such a service would be an expense which would, of necessity, raise the prices of these magazines to you.

NOT ALL THERE?

There seems to be a chance that a few of the January copies of THE KEY went out missing a page or two. If you happened to receive such an incomplete copy let us know and we will send you a complete copy.

IF I WERE --- A DIRECTOR OF CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

I would feel that my greatest challenge would be the development of lay leadership in the education program of the church. While laboratory schools and other formal leadership training opportunities would make up a part of my training program, by far the largest part of this would have to be "on-the-job" training. It is in this area that THE PERIODICAL KEY would come into play.

First of all, I would study an issue or two so that I could find my way about in it with ease, and know the possibilities in it for my church. Then, I would be able to suggest to department superintendents and other top leadership what sections to watch to find their way to articles which apply exactly to problems they face. I would urge these leaders, in turn, to suggest to those under their supervision how keeping an eye on THE KEY might be the means to greater efficiency in their work and greater satisfaction.

I would have a file of KEYS at all working meetings of any part of the educational program so that as questions come from the group, reference could be made quickly and a helpful article found within a few minutes. When committees are formed to study some problem material would be found quickly indicating study made by other groups and some of their answers. If an issue brought up seems to be of concern to a group, it may be that some member could be assigned to find answers others have found and report back to the group.

One of my big jobs would be recruitment of leaders. I would want no one to accept a responsibility without full knowledge of what it entailed and what helps he would have available in the job. In addition to pamphlets describing his job, I would point out to him where to find helpful articles listed in THE KEY.

In handling specific problems I would use THE KEY. For instance, a teacher may find material in some unit unsuitable for his particular class. He asks for some guidance. Well, THE KEY may uncover quickly material on the same subject in some other periodical or from back issues of periodicals which takes an approach fitting more closely the needs of the class in mind. Or it may give the teacher an inspiration which sets him at the creation of his own approach tailor-made for his own class.

Yes, if I were a director of Christian education, I would certainly use THE PERIODICAL KEY in leadership recruitment, leadership training, and in problem solving. I believe that this way I could give the fine periodical educational materials provided by my church longer life and wider use tailored specifically to my own church's needs.
